

You're Invisible to Me: Using original tracks, Clemson students produced a creative and entertaining music video which contains lyrics that discuss where electricity comes from and the importance of energy conservation.

1. Let's look further into where our energy comes from...what does it take to create energy?
2. How much energy do you use each day? Does a portion of it come from renewable energy sources?
3. Are our current energy demands and practices sustainable? Should we look into using more clean energy sources here at Clemson University?
