Clemson University was founded in 1889 as a military school and is rich with military tradition. Promoting Clemson's tradition of superior military achievement, the Army ROTC LLC brings cadets together to create camaraderie, bolstering the success of new cadets. The Army ROTC program instills a sense of self in each cadet through recognition of individual responsibility and motivation. Cadets who participate in the community are able to summarize the skills necessary to become a commissioned officer by demonstrating Army Core Values — leadership, discipline, respect, selfless service, honesty, integrity and personal courage.

What To Expect
- Mentoring from supportive upper class cadets as well as peer to peer supports
- Additional military leadership opportunities
- Get help with any physical fitness training you might need

Did You Know?
Throughout the academic year, Army ROTC Cadets often participate in:
- Military movie nights – taking a different look at military movies and analyzing the different leadership styles
- Outdoor trips to Clemson’s High Ropes course
- ROTC labs and clubs right alongside fellow cadets and LLC members

Army ROTC
clemson.edu/cbbs/army-rotc

Student Perspective
“Being new to Clemson, the LLC has helped me build strong relationships with my peers and has helped with my different class work because everyone has a lot of similar classes.”

– Joe Hilbert, Army ROTC Cadet

Quick Facts
- Size: Approximately 20 students
- Location: McCabe Hall
- Open To: Any year, any major, coed, must be in Army ROTC program
- Application: None required
- Fee: None required

Contact Information
Mark Samuelson
Recruiting Operations Officer
Edgar Brown Student Union — Army ROTC Campus
Headquarters (located next to the campus post office) 864-656-2578
msamue2@clemson.edu

LLC Cadets enjoy residing conveniently near the Army ROTC Headquarters and ROTC lab facilities on campus.