The WAVS LLC is designed especially for first-year women majoring in animal and veterinary science. WAVS offers unique experiences within the animal and veterinary science department that are not offered to other students in the major. The first year is a time of great adjustments from high school to college life. WAVS helps students successfully make that transition. First-year women live and study with other women in their major, who share the same coursework, test schedules, study groups and club activities. WAVS is an opportunity to make lifelong friendships with other women who share similar interests, dreams and ambitions.

What To Expect
- Supportive peers, academic advisers and major faculty
- Social activities and events
- Professional development workshops
- Access to specialized animal and veterinary science events

Did You Know?
WAVS LLC advisers try to help students feel right at home. Staff and faculty who support WAVS often continue to support the students through the remainder of their Clemson academic careers and even teach upper-level animal science courses, truly linking both in-class and out of class experiences throughout a student's time at Clemson.

Quick Facts
- Size: 32 students
- Location: The Shoeboxes — Young Hall
- Restrictions: Preveterinary and animal science, equine business or animal agribusiness majors, women only
- Application: Yes
- Fee: $175

Contact Information
Kathy Still
student service program manager and freshman adviser, Women in Animal and Veterinary Science
131 Poole Agricultural Center
864-656-3162
ktstill@clemson.edu

Johanna Johnson, Ph.D.
Lecturer, Animal and Veterinary Sciences
125 Poole Agricultural Center
864-656-0493
johann3@clemson.edu